

POLICIES IN CHINA.

NO SIGNS OF WITHDRAWAL
FROM CAPITAL.

GERMANY NOT DESIROUS OF LAND—ITS JOURNEY MAY BE MADE UNDER RUSSIAN PROTECTION.

It is believed that Russia and Germany have formed a secret alliance regarding action in China, and that Great Britain will act independently of the other Powers.

Further massacres of Roman Catholic missionaries were reported.

The district around Tien-Tsin has been cleared, and the town of Tu-Liu occupied and burned. The natives in neighboring villages are suing for peace.

Li Hung Chang announced his intention to start for Peking yesterday in order to confer with Prince Ching, who has already reached the capital, and to open negotiations with the Powers.

ENGLISH REPLY TO RUSSIA

(Copyright, 1900, by The New-York Tribune.)
[BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.]

London, Sept. 15, 6 a. m.—The Paris correspondent of "The Post" understands that the British reply to the Russian proposal to evacuate Peking did not contain a refusal, but stated that the moment appeared inopportune. The impression prevails that the capital will be occupied for a long time, and that France and Russia have agreed to demand the complete disarmament of China.

From Berlin it is announced semi-officially that Germany does not propose to adopt an acquisitive policy in the Yangtze region. Her policy is described as that of an open door, with the handle in international hands.

"The Post's" correspondent in Shanghai says that Li Hung Chang is to be taken on board a Russian warship at Woo-Sung, and to be received at Taku by the Russians.

A message to "The Times" says that Li considers that the preliminary difficulty in the way of negotiations consists in the difficulty of denouncing Prince Tuan and his accomplices to the throne.

A dispatch to "The Times" from Peking, received at Taku on September 10, says that Russian troops continue to pour into the capital.

I. N. F.

BRITAIN TO ACT ALONE.

BELIEF IN ALLIANCE BETWEEN GER-MANY AND RUSSIA.

(Copyright, 1900, by The New-York Tribune.)
[BY CABLE TO THE TRIBUNE.]

London, Sept. 15, 1 a. m.—Lord Salisbury has been at the Foreign Office, but there are no immediate signs that the situation in China has been cleared. London editors certainly are as much in the dark as they were when the Premier was in the "Vogues." "The Times" is keeping abreast with Dr. Morrison rather than following any official cues in forecasting and condemning a secret understanding between Germany and Russia.

It has been the current belief in diplomatic circles that an understanding of this kind would be brought about, but it has been based upon natural inferences rather than upon definite information. Russia and Germany acted in concert at the close of the war between China and Japan, and obtained naval stations and territory. It has been the natural suggestion that they would repeat this process in the existing crisis, and there has been nothing in the negotiations over the retirement of the allied forces from Peking to modify this inference. Practical diplomats have been convinced that the German Emperor, after supporting England strongly in South Africa during the last year, cannot be depended upon to take up British interests in China, but will be more likely to make terms with Russia.

The validity of Dr. Morrison's inferences is accepted by well informed men in diplomatic circles. It is in the natural order of events that the German Emperor, who has ambitions of his own in the Near East, should have a good understanding with Russia respecting the Far East.

Lord Salisbury's own policy remains a mystery, and only one thing can be ascertained with any degree of confidence. That is that the British forces will remain in Peking indefinitely, England being without a diplomatic ally in the Chinese complication, will naturally maintain an attitude of masterly inactivity, and decline to send away her troops until the Imperial Government has been reconstructed and some effective measures have been taken for securing the punishment of the guilty mandarins.

Press dispatches are filled with forecasts of the peace negotiations at Peking and the conditions which Russia and the other Powers are likely to impose. Most of these summaries are ingenious guess work, and all are premature.

The demand for the return of the Emperor to power is accurately stated without doubt, but this leaves the question of the Emperor's influence unsettled, and that lies at the bottom of the present complications. The leaders of the Boxer revolt and of the Imperial army can never be punished if she retains any influence at the palace.

I. N. F.

PERSECUTING ROMAN CATHOLICS.

FURTHER REPORTS OF CHINESE OUTRAGES
—THE POSITION OF GERMANY.

Berlin, Sept. 14.—The Cologne "Volkszeitung," the leading Centralist organ, has received special advices from Hankow, saying that the war of extermination against Roman Catholic missions in China is assuming greater dimensions. The Apostolic Vicariate in South Shen-Se has been completely destroyed, including all the churches; the Christians have been driven away, and their houses have been burned. In the provincial capital, Tai-Yuan-Fu, which is the seat of the Bishop of North Shen-Se, the Catholic orphanage, with three hundred orphans, has been burned.

The "Nuestre Nachrichten," of this city, publishes a dispatch from St. Petersburg, which says in part:

The Russian General commanding in the Amur District has issued an order to his troops to treat the Chinese rebels in Manchuria, and expressing a hope that the troops will successfully bear the privations of the coming winter campaign. In the Province of Kirin General Tshitschikoff has induced the populace to return to their homes.

FAST TRAIN FOR ST. LOUIS
Via New York Central—Big Four Route. Leave Grand Central Station 5:30 p. m., arrive St. Louis 5:30 next evening. Close connection for Kansas City. No excess fare.—Advt.

LEADERS INVITED TO SPEAK AT LAST NIGHT'S BIG REPUBLICAN MEETINGS.

Senator Foraker, although in the city, was indisposed and could not appear.

PILLAGE IN THE CAPITAL.

LOOTING AT PEKING CONTINUED—
PRINCE CHING REACHES THE CITY.

Peking, Sept. 3 (via Taku, Sept. 7, via Shanghai, Sept. 13).—Looting in Peking continues, both authorized and unauthorized. Few houses are guarded except those occupied by foreigners, the palaces and those in the Sacred City. Almost every house is destitute of furniture. General Chatter says he could not have believed that any city would ever be given over so completely to looters, and he earnestly desires the co-operation of any nation to prevent this.

On the other hand, the missionaries complain because the Sacred City has not been looted. They urge that the royal family and other high Chinese personages who were behind all the trouble should be made to suffer more than those who blindly followed them.

General Fukushima, the Japanese commander, informed General Chatter that brutal outrages were being committed in Tung-Chow. He told the American commander that he had positive information that many women had thrown themselves into wells or committed suicide in other ways after having been outraged, and that there were several authentic cases of coolies who had been killed under peculiarly atrocious conditions. He requested General Chatter to investigate, and then to co-operate with him to check these barbarities as far as possible. General Chatter ordered Major Muir to proceed immediately to Tung-Chow and to report.

INCREASED VIGILANCE ORDERED.

At a council of generals to-day the Russian General Linewitch said he had received information that two forces of Boxers, one numbering ten thousand and the other four thousand, were marching from the south to endeavor to cut the communications of the allies between Peking and Tien-Tsin. It was finally decided that the line was sufficiently guarded, as the allies would certainly receive definite tidings of the approach of the Boxers in time to mobilize at any given point. The council merely issued orders for increased vigilance on the part of the outposts.

The telegraph line has been closed against press messages because of the enormous Government business.

Sept. 5 (via Shanghai, Sept. 14).—Prince Ching arrived here yesterday, accompanied by an escort of British and Japanese cavalry. He spent the night in his own palace. Sharp diplomatic play is expected for an advantage, but any definite negotiations will probably not take place until Li Hung Chang arrives and the question of his authority is disposed of. The Japanese Minister to China, Baron Nishii, stated that he wished an investigation to be made of Li Hung Chang's credentials, as he believed that Prince Ching was the only man in authority.

Prince Ching this morning stated that he trusted that in the immediate future everything would be settled satisfactorily. He thought the treatment of Peking unnecessarily cruel, and that this was especially true as regards private property. He was thankful, however, that the Sacred City had been preserved. He had come to Peking, he said, with full authority from the Emperor to obtain peace by any necessary sacrifice, but he felt sure the generosity of the Powers would not exact anything degrading to the dignity of China or encroaching upon Chinese territory, and he hoped within a month to see the harvest gathered and homes being rebuilt. Prince Ching thinks a great blow has been given to Chinese commerce, but does not believe the loss to the capital is irreparable and thinks that a greater city may arise from the ashes of the former one.

The Russians expect Li Hung Chang to arrive within a few days. They do not want to commit themselves in any way until his arrival, though they say they are willing to hear what Prince Ching has to say.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE HELD.

Sept. 8.—In the Cathedral to-day there was a grand thanksgiving service for the preservation of the capital.

Continued on fourth page.

Buy the Brooklyn Sunday Standard Union, one cent, 12 to 25 pages. First issue to-morrow. Only Republican Sunday newspaper in Kings County. Order it from your newsdealer.—Advt.

A HACKING COUGH can be cured with JATNEY'S EXPECTORANT.—Advt.

GERMAN LOAN ANNOUNCED

TAKEN BY THE NATIONAL CITY BANK
AND KUHN, LOEB & CO.TREASURY NOTES AT 4 PER CENT MATUR-
ING IN 1904 AND 1906—NO DISTURBANCE
OF MONEY MARKET EXPECTED.

As was anticipated in yesterday's Tribune, Kuhn, Loeb & Co. publicly announced that negotiations looking to the placing of a German Government loan in this country had been concluded. The transaction, as finally completed after several days' negotiations, covers the purchase by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank of $6,000,000 marks ($20,000,000) 4 per cent Treasury notes of the German Empire, maturing in equal proportions in 1904 and 1906. No syndicate has been formed. The purchasing bankers take over the loan on their own initiative from the German Reichsbank (the Imperial German Bank) through the Disconto-Gesellschaft of Berlin, and M. M. Warburg & Co. of Hamburg.

"An issue of the loan," Kuhn, Loeb & Co. stated in their announcement, "will shortly be made both in the United States and in Germany; preference in allotments is to be given to American subscriptions. Payments for the loan will be distributed over a considerable period, and will be made entirely in bills of exchange, no gold shipments being contemplated; the money market is therefore not likely to become affected through payments for the loan."

"The opportunity to subscribe for a 4 per cent obligation of the German Empire appears an exceptional one. It is a well known fact that nowhere are public obligations held more sacred and inviolable than throughout Germany. While the wealth of the German Empire is very great, its debt is inconsiderable; under its laws any deduction for taxes upon its obligations is excluded."

Inquiries made yesterday elicited the information that no other banking establishment with the exception of the two mentioned have so far directly participated in the subscription, but other institutions or individuals who wish to purchase the bonds will be allowed to do so on equal terms. In pursuance of this policy arrangements were practically closed yesterday whereby the New-York Life Insurance Company will take up $5,000,000 of the loan. This subscription, which in reality insured the success of the loan, has been decided upon as the result of conferences between Edward N. Gibbs, treasurer of the company, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank. Some two or three weeks ago the intimation was first conveyed to London financial circles that Germany would need funds to carry forward her Chinese campaign representative financiers of this city were approached respecting the possibility of floating the loan in the United States. One of the institutions thus sounded was the New-York Life Insurance Company. John A. McCall, the president, who was in Europe, was advised of the situation. He immediately communicated with Berlin, and upon assurances which presumably passed between Mr. McCall and other financial houses in this city, and the German Government it was decided that a gold loan on a 4 per cent basis could be easily disposed of in the United States.

Although the entire issue of the bonds has been taken by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City Bank, a part of them will be offered for subscription in Germany. But just what the proportion will be is not known, nor could any authoritative statement in this direction be obtained yesterday; nor has it yet been definitely determined how the bonds will be paid for. It should happen that the loan is to be paid for with American credits, the money market here will be in no wise disturbed; but if gold is to be exported it will undoubtedly be affected. Although it is generally believed that no gold exports are contemplated the public announcement of the loan, coming simultaneously with free shipments of currency to the interior, and the expectation of a poor bank statement to-day, led to a great deal of discussion as to the probability of dearer money. The tendency among the banks is in favor of higher interest, and some of the banking officials yesterday refused to renew maturing loan.

THE CELEBRATED MUNICH BEER, PSCHORR BRAT, WAS AWARDED THE GRAND PRIX (THE HIGHEST AWARD) AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION.—Advt.

GALVESTON'S DISTRESS.

HUNDREDS SEEKING TO FLEE
FROM THE CITY.MANY BODIES STILL BURIED IN THE WRECKS—SOME IMPROVEMENT IN CONDITIONS.

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 14.—The first real attempt to clear away the great mass of debris piled along the waterfront for a distance of several miles was begun to-day. Advertisements were printed in "The News" which appeared this morning asking for hundreds of men and boys to do this work. A multitude responded. They were formed into squads and promptly put to work, with police and deputy sheriffs in charge. It is hoped that a vigorous prosecution of this work will lead to the early recovery of bodies still in the debris. That there are many of them there is no shadow of doubt. It is difficult, indeed, to imagine how half the people that did escape got free of this fearful bottom and tsunami.

An Associated Press correspondent traversed the beach for some distance to-day, and the stench at different points was sickening. Everywhere little groups of men, women and children, some of them poorly clothed, were digging in the ruins of their homes for what little household property they could save. In many cases those seeking their former homes were utterly unable to find a single remnant of them, so hopeless is the confusion of timbers and household furniture.

HUNDREDS LEAVE THE CITY.

The exodus from the city was heavy to-day, and hundreds more were unable to secure transportation. Along the bay front there were scores of families with dejected faces pleading to be taken from the stricken city, where, in spite of every effort to restore confidence, there is a universal feeling of depression.

Shipping men say to-day that the damage to the wharves is by no means so serious as at first supposed. The chief damage has been in the tearing open of sheds and the ripping of planking. The sheds, however, can be quickly replaced. The piling for a considerable distance along the bay front witnessed the pounding it got from the wind and waves, and business men find a measure of consolation in this.

More hopeful reports were received to-day regarding the water supply. Chairman McMassey of the Chamber of Commerce has charge of the water relief work. The company is placing men all along the main, plugging the broken places and thereby assisting the flow. It was serving some of its customers to-day, and hopes gradually to increase the service. The water continues to run by gravity pressure. The only difficulty the people are having is in carrying supplies to their homes or places of business. The ice supply continues bountiful, and at many corners lemonade is being served at five cents for as many glasses as a person can drink at one time.

More effective measures were taken to-day to keep undesirable people off the island. Soldiers patrolled the waterfront and challenged all who could not show a proper reason for landing or who were unwilling to work for the privilege of coming into town.

REOPENING COMMUNICATION.

Assurances have been given by the railroads that they will do all in their power to reopen communication, and the present plan seems to be to concentrate all forces on the work of reconstruction of one bridge. Crews are coming down the Santa Fe Railroad from Arkansas and St. Louis with full equipments to restore the line. Local representatives of the Southern Pacific have had directions from headquarters to proceed with repair work without delay.

Telegraphic communication has been partially restored, the Western Union and Postal companies having reached the city with one wire. Large forces have been at work

Continued on fourth page.

EVERY COMFORT AND CONVENIENCE can be found on the Pennsylvania Limited. Leaves West 2nd St. Station daily for Chicago and the principal cities of the Middle West.—Advt.

WOODRUFF - STANCHFIELD.

CANDIDATES SPEAK AT THE WAYNE
COUNTY FAIR.ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN PRESENTED
FROM DIFFERENT POINTS OF VIEW.

LYONS, N. Y., Sept. 14.—Today was Political Day at the Wayne County Fair, and the State political campaign was opened here in the presence of ten thousand people from the territory between Syracuse and Rochester by Lieutenant-Governor Woodruff, John B. Stanchfield, Democratic candidate for Governor, and C. H. Corrigan, the Socialist Labor candidate for Governor. The guests were met at the railroad station and escorted to the Hotel Baltzer by the 27th Regiment Band and Blakely Rifles. The town was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Mr. Corrigan came unescorted, having, as he admitted, no following in this part of the State. He made a speech, which was well received.

Mr. Stanchfield was greeted by prominent local and county Democrats, while Senator John Raines, Judge Charles T. Saxton, Supreme Justice James W. Dunwell, Assemblyman Griffith, ex-Assemblyman Marvin L. Greenwood, Deputy Treasurer Barnet H. Davis, State Committee-man Thomas Robinson, and other Republicans greeted the Lieutenant-Governor. Mr. Stanchfield spoke first. He referred to manuscript for much of his data, and confined himself chiefly to the point where he makes his start, in order to state his position. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men from the rural localities are now flocking is the city. He looks around the neighborhood of strong letters of recommendation and seeks an opening, not to go into business for himself, but to enter into the employ of some corporation. The trust has destroyed the market for young men who desire to be independent in business. Once the door closes upon ambition, need to find his competition. The Mecca toward which all young men